DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1-6, 11-14 and 19-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Haber et al. US 6,185,536.

1.1 Regarding claims 1, 11 and 19, Haber discloses a system for using user-specific voice data to authorizing a telephone call, comprising:

a setup system (Communication Unit CU, or Control Facility CF) for capturing and storing an authentic user voice sample (speech characteristic model or SCM) (column 2, lines 31-43; column 3, lines 36-44; column 4, lines 20-30); a comparison system (CU or CF) that compares the user SCM with an inputted voice sample and generating an comparing result (column 7, lines 57-67; column 8, lines 102);

a control system (CU of CF) for controlling access to a telephone device, wherein the control system:

analyzes the comparison result for an initial inputted voice sample received when the telephone call is initiated (column 3, lines 1-10; column 8, lines 3-10); and periodically analyze comparison results for ongoing inputted voice samples received during the telephone call (column 9, lines 63-67; column 10, lines 1-7. Note: "If an authorized user..." in column 10, line 5 should be "If an unauthorized user...").

1.2 Regarding claims 2-4 and 12-14, Haber teaches terminating the call if voice input does not matched pre-stored voice samples in a memory (column 3, lines 1-10; column 9, line 63 to column 10, line 7).

1.3 Regarding claims 5 and 6, Haber teaches telephones 12, 26, 28, 42, 52 and 54 in figures 1 and 2. It is inherent that a telephone is usable in a conference call.

1.4 Regarding claim 20, Haber teaches wireless phone 12 and 42.

1.5 Regarding claim 21, Haber teaches periodically or continually collecting voice sample for comparison (column 9, lines 63-67; column 10, lines 1-7).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 7-10 and 15-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Haber et al. US 6,185,536 in view of Sorensen et al. US 6,810,116.

2.1 Regarding claims 7 and 15, Haber discloses a system for using user-specific voice data to authorizing a telephone call by one of the portable telephones 12 and 42 in figures 1 and 2, comprising:

a setup system (Control Facility CF) for capturing and storing voice sample (speech characteristic model or SCM) of authentic users (column 2, lines 31-43; column 3, lines 36-44; column 4, lines 20-30); a comparison system (CF) that compares users' SCM with an inputted voice samples and generating an comparing results for multiple users 12 (figure 1) and 42 (figure 2) (column 7, lines 57-67; column 8, lines 1-2);

a control system (CF) for controlling access to the telephone call, wherein the control system:

analyzes the comparison result for an initial inputted voice sample received when the telephone call is initiated (column 3, lines 1-10; column 8, lines 3-10); and periodically analyze comparison results for ongoing inputted voice samples received during the telephone call (column 9, lines 63-67; column 10, lines 1-7. Note: "If an authorized user..." in column 10, line 5 should be "If an unauthorized user...").

Haber fails to specifically teach that the telephone call is a conference call.

However, since Haber's CF controls portable telephones' access to the PSTN, and it is obvious that the telephone call may be a conference call.

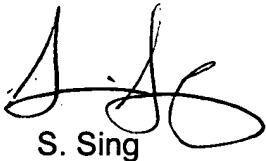

In addition, Sorensen teaches setting up a conference call using voice verification to authorize each participant (column 8, lines 1-5).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the Haber's reference with the teaching of Sorensen so that a telephone call would have been a conference call, because a telephone conference call was well in the art, and such a modification would have enabled a user of telephone 26, 28, 52 or 54 to set up a conference call with two or more portable phones 12 and 42.

2.2 Regarding claims 8-10 and 16-18, Haber teaches terminating the telephone call if voice input does not match pre-stored voice samples (column 3, lines 1-10; column 9, line 63 to column 10, line 7).
